

PATIENT SUPPORT: Understanding the Roles of PANTHERx Rare and Alexion, AstraZeneca Rare Disease OneSource™

There are various programs offered by industry partners to help patients with questions about hypophosphatasia (HPP), diagnosis and treatment. Whether you've recently been diagnosed with HPP and prescribed treatment with STRENSIQ® (asfotase alfa) for the first time, or you have been on STRENSIQ for some time, you may have questions about your prescription, such as how to refill it, what's covered by insurance, who to contact with questions, or how to find other support related to your medication. This resource provides an overview of programs and resources available to HPP patients to help with your prescription.

What is Strensiq® (asfotase alfa)?

STRENSIQ is a medical treatment approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) for perinatal, infantile & juvenile-onset HPP. Strensiq® (asfotase alfa) is an enzyme replacement therapy administered by subcutaneous (under the skin) injection.

People with HPP have low levels of an enzyme called alkaline phosphatase (ALP), which impairs the mineralization of bones. Normally minerals such as calcium and phosphorus are deposited in developing bones and teeth, making them hard and strong. But in people with HPP, who have low ALP levels and impaired mineralization, bones are soft, weak and deformed. Strensiq® (asfotase alfa) replaces the ALP in the body and improves bone health.

Because Strensiq® (asfotase alfa) is temperature and light sensitive, and is self-administered, it must be stored and administered with care. Both PANTHERx Rare and OneSource™ can help with any questions or special needs related to storing and administering the medication.

What is PANTHERx Rare?

Frequently Asked Questions

What should I do if I'm traveling and need my medication shipped somewhere other than to my home address?

PANTHERx Rare can ship your medication anywhere within the U.S. Before traveling, contact them in advance to make arrangements. A Strensiq® (asfotase alfa) team member will help to coordinate shipping arrangements to accommodate your schedule.

My area is expecting a storm and possible power outages. Should I contact PANTHERx Rare and let them know?

Yes, it's a good idea to contact PANTHERx Rare if your area is expecting a storm, possible power outages, and potential weather delays which could impact delivery and storage of medications. They can help coordinate alternative shipping and storage options with you.

Who do I call if I inadvertently left my medication unrefrigerated and/or exposed to light?

For questions about stability of medication, contact PANTHERx and ask to speak to a pharmacist who can advise you. If it is after hours, pharmacists are on call and will get back to you within the hour. If you are able to wait, try to hold off administering Strensiq® (asfotase alfa) until you've checked with a pharmacist first about the medication's stability if it is in question.

Who should I call if I have questions about changing when I take Strensiq® (asfotase alfa)?

PANTHERx Rare and OneSource advise you talk to your physician about making any changes to your dosing schedule or routine.

Do I have to be taking Strensiq® (asfotase alfa) to speak to someone at OneSource?

No, according to Alexion, AstraZeneca Rare Disease you don't have to be on Strensiq® (asfotase alfa) or have a prescription for Strensiq® (asfotase alfa) to speak to OneSource. They will do their best to answer whatever questions you may have, or direct you to more information.
